ENTHUSIASM RUNS HIGH AS REGISTER'S CASH CONTEST OPENS

Great enthusiasm is being manifested in The Township Register's $1,000 Circulation Club, announced last week, and a number of residents of the township have been nominated as candidates for the big cash awards which will be given in less than two months.

Five hundred dollars is the first grand award and $200 the second grand award. These two awards will be given the two candidates who have the most votes at the close of the campaign. The one who comes in third will be awarded $150 in cash, the candidate who is fourth will receive $100, and the fifth will be paid $50.

ALL CONTESTANTS WINNERS

There will be no losers in this Club, as all who do not receive an award will be paid a cash commission on all subscriptions turned in by them.

There is still plenty of time to join the Circulation Club and win the first award. Very little work has yet been done by anyone, but it will be well to start soon, as many people give their subscriptions and votes to the first to ask for them.

Anyone who would like to have an award will find it an easy way to make a nice sum of money. The Township Register is a popular newspaper and club members will find it easy to get subscriptions. Both new and renewals count.

BONUS AWARDS

Those who are interested should call Niles 3261 and a representative will call at their home or place of business and give them all the details without obligation. Or anyone may call at The Township Register office and get all the information and receipt books which are furnished workers free of charge.

Readers should send in the name of a friend who may win $500 and thus receive a $5.00 award for their time spent in picking a winner. Do it now!

IRVINGTON YOUTH LEAPS TO DEATH

A Japanese youth, who served in the U. S. armed forces during World War II, took his life near Irvington Wednesday by leaping from a P. G. & E. power line pole.

He was Thomas Takizawa, 23-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Susumo Takizawa of Irvington. The youth was under a doctor's care and had been despondent for the past several months. He left the home of his parents about 5 p.m. Wednesday and walked across the Stevenson Ranch to one of the power line towers near the Irvington-Centerville highway, climbed to the top of the tower and jumped to his death. He died instantly.

He is survived by four sisters and a brother, Mrs. George Furuta, Martha, Donald, Ellen and Alice Takizawa, all of Irvington.

Services will be held at 9 a.m. today (Friday) at the parlors of the Berge Mortuary in Irvington. Closing services will be at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

FOUR DECOTO BOYS FACE THEFT CHARGE

Four Decoto youths were arrested in Niles on Monday evening by Patrolman Al LaBoda and turned over to sheriff's deputies to face charges of petty theft.

LaBoda told the deputies that he apprehended the youths after he had witnessed them pilfering a newspaper rack on a Niles street corner.

The youths charged are: Reginaldo G. Galan, 18, 619 G Street; George Castro, 17, 517 Railroad Avenue; Andrew Sanchez Jr., 17, 417 Fifth Street, and Manuel Lopez Alcon, 16, 610 D Street.

Galan appeared before Judge E. A. Quaresma in Niles Justice Court yesterday and requested time to obtain counsel. His arraignment has been set for Friday, April 14, and he was placed under a bond of $200. The other three youths were turned over to the juvenile authorities.

MUST VOTE BONDS OR CONSOLIDATE SCHOOL DISTRICT

Residents of the Alviso School District were informed at a public meeting last Wednesday evening that bonds must be voted for funds to make minor repairs and the construction of a new classroom or the school would have to consolidate with one of the neighboring districts.

The district has called a $51,000 bond election for April 14, which, according to Principal James Nunes, would cover the cost of a new roof for the cafeteria, playground repairs, a fence for the school property and an additional classroom.

Nelson Vassallo, chief deputy superintendent of schools for Alameda County, offered the alternative of closing the school and consolidating with a neighboring district, and pointed out that other districts now have a greater tax rate than Alviso.

James Bunker, administrative assistant superintendent for the county school system, cited examples of other schools that have similar problems of increasing enrollments and inadequate housing facilities. He stated that he knew of no other school in the county that had voted "no" on the bond issues.

Mrs. Mayme Roderick and Frank Duarte, members of the Board of Trustees of the school, spoke briefly, telling of the needs of the school. Frank Faria, clerk of the Board of Trustees, was unable to attend the meeting because of illness.

In the discussion which followed parents and friends expressed their favor of the measure and asked that all persons having questions concerning the coming election consult the trustees or call the school.

MEN'S CLUB WILL MEET THURSDAY

The Washington Township Men's Club will hold a dinner meeting next Thursday, April 13, at the Veterans Building in Niles. The dinner starts at 6:45, and will be prepared under the direction of the Ladies Auxiliary of the American Legion.

Dr. Franklin C. Palm, a professor at the University of California, will be the main speaker for the event. An authority on ancient and modern European history, he has chosen for the topic of his address, "The Cold War in Europe —Its Causes and Effects."

VOTE REGISTRATION CLOSES APRIL 13

New residents in Washington Township, and those who have moved into new precincts, have but less than a week to register to be eligible to vote in the primary election on June 6.

Supervisor Chester E. Stanley said this week that registration books have been placed in each of the eight communities of the township, and warned that Thursday, April 13, is the last day that registrations can be accepted.

Registrars in each of the communities are: Mayme Roderick, Alvarado; Joe Brown and Kiyome Kato, Warm Springs; Mrs. Lois Bottenberg, Mission San Jose; William Marshall, Decoto; R. J. Wright, Irvington; Vernon Ellsworth and John Brahmst, Niles; Mrs. eLontine Costa, Centerville; and James O'Connor, Newark.

CONSTRUCTION TO START MONDAY ON NEW SANITARIUM

Ground-breaking ceremonies for the Mission Road Sanitarium, to be located on the five-acre site at Morrison Avenue and the Niles-Mission San Jose Highway, will be held this Saturday, April 8, at 3 o'clock.

Dr. Joseph B. Enos of Alameda and Oakland, director of the sanitarium, has invited the public to attend the ceremony which will feature a talk by the Rev. Ernest Hastings. Music will be provided by Elaine Nelson and Archie Stevens, vocalists.

Dr. Enos, who will be assisted in the operation of the sanitarium by his wife (a graduate of Stanford's School of Nursing), has been practicing medicine in Oakland for 30 years. He completed his medical course at the University of Southern California.

LATEST FEATURES

The sanitarium will incorporate the very latest features in contemporary architecture. Of a 36-bed capacity, it will be of the Mission style, with stucco and brick veneer exterior, tile roof, and radiant heat. Dr. Enos states that he intends to add another wing later, bringing the capacity to 75 beds.

Careful study has been made in modern trends and psychology so that the cure of patients will be second to none.

PRIVATE PHONES

The rooms will be equipped with private telephones as well as an outlet broadcasting system. This system will be used for selected music that will brighten the morning hours and lend itself to soft reminiscent music at the close of the day. In the same manner, flowers with color and fragrance conducive to restfulness and peace will be selected for the gardens. Rooms will be decorated and furnished in soft colors for home atmosphere. The baths will be in colored tile.

A 40-foot solarium will offer patients the opportunity of enjoying the company of one another, and will be the setting for weekly teas to be held on Thursday afternoons.

Construction of the building will begin next Monday. It will be completed in four months. The contract was let to Nelson T. Lewis of Hayward.

MRS. A. E. ALAMEDA IS CLUB PRESIDENT

Mrs. A. E. Alameda, popular young Irvington matron and the mother of six grown children, was unanimously elected to be the new president of the Country Club, at an election held Tuesday at the regular monthly meeting.

Mrs. Alameda succeeds retiring President Mrs. C. N. Myrick, who presided for two years.

Other new officers elected are: vice-president, Mrs. LeRoy Broun; recording secretary, Mrs. Allan Hirsch; treasurer, Mrs. Maurice Marks; and financial secretary, Mrs. William Humpert. Mrs. Myrick was named on the board of directors.

Mrs. Charles Wauhab of Centerville was voted into the club as a new member.

A Motor Mechanics course, under the sponsorship of the Red Cross, will hold a one-evening meeting on the night of April 10, at Red Cross headquarters in Oakland, and any woman interested is welcome to attend, according to Mrs. Sophie Quartaroli of Niles, head of the Red Cross Motor Corps in this area.

Passage of $260,000 Bond Proposal Urged by District

Residents of the Union Sanitary District, which comprises Newark, Centerville and Niles, will be called upon next Tuesday, April 11, to vote on a proposal to bond the district for $260,000.

The election has been called by the Sanitary Board to raise money for the construction of a sewage disposal plant, treatment works, sewers, power lines, buildings and equipment to alter and enlarge the existing pump house.

The members of the board have pointed out that they have no alternative but to call the bond election to raise the necessary funds.

George Coit, president of the board, said this week, "All cities and sanitary districts have been served notice by the State Department of Public Health that raw sewage can no longer be emptied into San Francisco Bay. The deadline for halting that operation has already passed, but the state has not taken action where it is evident that progress is being made toward the erection of sewage treatment and disposal plants.

MUST BUILD PLANT

"Should the voters of the district fail to vote in favor of the bond issue the district would be put to the expense of calling additional elections until the proposal is passed," Coit pointed out.

Joining with Coit, in asking the residents of the district to vote "Yes" on the proposal, are the other members of the board: M. J. Bernardo and G. I. Emerson, Centerville; George Burr, E. E. Dias, Henry N. Enos, T. H. Elliott and H. L. Scott, Niles, and T. C. Gunn and S. G. Scott, Newark.

Coit estimated that the cost to the taxpayer would be one cent per day for each thousand dollars of assessed valuation. "As additional factories and homes are added the assessed value will increase and the rate for each taxpayer will be lower," he asserted.

POLLING PLACES LISTED

Three voting precincts have been established for the coming election and the polls will be kept open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. continuously.

Precinct No. 1 shall consist of all that portion of Union Sanitary District lying within the boundaries of General Election Precincts of Alameda County designated as Niles 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7. Polling place will be the fire house. Mary R. Geib will serve as inspector and Mary L. Solon and Katherine McDonald have been named as judges.

Precinct No. 2 is comprised of all the portions of the sanitary district within the boundaries of General Election Precincts designated as Centerville 1, 2, 3, 4 and 5. Polling place will be the Justice Court at Centerville. Election officials will be Olive M. Alves, inspector, and Helen C. Rogers and Maria M. Brazil, judges.

Precinct No. 3 includes all that portion of the sanitary district lying within the boundaries of General Election Precincts designated as Newark 1, 2, 3, and 4. Polling place will be at 1232 Thornton Avenue and the election officials will be Opal Blanjean, inspector, and Rose E. Santos and Adeline Dutra, judges.

ALLEGES FIRE WAS COVER FOR THEFT

A fire at his smokehouse late Monday evening was apparently a cover-up for the theft of bacons and hams, Arnold Bellini, operator of a meat shop in Niles, alleged this week.

The fire was discovered and the alarm sounded by Officer Al LaBoda, Niles patrolman, about 11 p.m. Monday. The Niles Fire Department arrived at the scene in time to save the building.

The following day Bellini reported to sheriff's deputies that 13 bacons, four hams and two pieces of Canadian bacon were taken from the shed sometime between 7 p.m. and the time that the firemen arrived.

MISSION SAN JOSE NEWS

By LOIS BOTTENBERG

Lois Bottenberg

GOOD RESPONSE

I'm so very sorry that the flu bug got me last week before the news notes were in, so here is a last week's article important enough to add to this week's line. The Catholic Daughters who had made an appeal for white cloth, such as sheets and white shirts, were well rewarded and especially want to thank those from Centerville who answered the call so quickly. Thanks go, too, to all the others who responded and if there are others who can get some old clean white goods together, it will still be acceptable. The girls are making pads to be used in the treatment of cancer and this is an especially good time to remember it as the drive is on for funds also. They held their annual group communion last Sunday at the St. Joseph Church and had breakfast at Helen's Cafe here in the Mission.

SUNDAY VISITOR

Miss Annie Santos and her fiance, Jake Miller, both of San Francisco, spent last Sunday here at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Rose Recend. Later in the evening they motored to Mount Diablo where they had supper with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Haussler. Mrs. Mary Haussler, mother of Bill, was there from Oakland. She is a sister of Mrs. Recends. Reno DeBernardo also went along.

OLD FRIENDS

An old time friend whom she had not seen in many years arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Barbee, to spend a few days. They were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sieg of Los Angeles.

FIRST GRANDCHILD

My, my, now you will know why there are two extra, really beaming faces in the Mission for Mr. and Mrs. John Amaral of Linda Vista Park have been given a buzz and told that little Miss Kathleen Rose Amaral arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Amaral in Chicago on March 29, weighing 7 pounds even up. She is the Amarals very first granchild so no wonder they are a happy pair.

VISITING GRANDPARENTS

A couple of weeks ago over the week-end, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus "Sonny" Solon of San Francisco and their mischievious and adorable daughter Holly, came out to the country to pay a visit to Grandad and Grandma Solon here in the Mission. By the way, that Solon garden is oh! so beautiful again this year.

TO LOOMIS

Mr. Ed Chambers, daughter Beverly and son Ronnie, motored to Loomis last week-end to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Chambers. Bev and Ronnie stayed to spend the Easter vacation with the grandparents. Mom Jo did not go up this time.

LITTLE BUNDLE ARRIVES

Gee whiz, you little bundle of joy, we sure waited a long time to have you put in an appearance, but now that you are here, "Welcome." Little Cynthia Jean arrived on March 22 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Medeiros of Ellsworth Street weighing, in her birthday suit, 8 pounds and 7 ounces. Papa Herman looked like ten years had been lifted off his shoulders as he gaily handed out cigars and he did not forget the ladies for they all had candy bars to nibble on too. Bev is up and around looking happy and oh, so proud of her new little daughter, not to say the lest of Grandmothers Mamie and Elsie.

SERIOUSLY ILL

Friends of Stuart McClure of San Francisco, son of Mrs. Margaret McClure, will be pleased to hear that he is much improved but will have to remain at home and quiet for a few weeks yet following a meningitis attack. Luckily he received treatment soon enough and will suffer no ill effects. His mother rushed to his side when he became ill but is back in the Mission at her home on the peak. His wife, Betty, will be his nurse while he is convalescing.

OFF TO THE NAVY

Here I come, Navy. So to give him a good send-off Iras Lofton gave her brother, Robert, a "going away party" at the family home here last Friday evening. The young folks that met enjoyed television, home movies by Sal Galvan, and some of his very clever card tricks. Very tasty refreshments were served to Cecelia Schneider, Jennie Moreno, Mary Lynn Lamoreux and Lorry, Carl Schneider, Ed Estacio, Frank and Sal Galvan, and the members of the family. Mom and Dad took Bob to the train and saw him off to San Diego for his boot training on Monday. Good luck in your new career and "be seein' you."

SURPRISE PARTY

A lovely surprise party for a double birthday for George and Mary Rodrigues was given to them at their home here by sisters Rita Amaral of Sunnyvale and Virginia Oliveria of Niles. Dancing and card games were enjoyed through the evening and they enduced Mary to give them a sample of the "Can Can Dance" which she learned for the Mothers Club "Naughty Nineties Revue."

Refreshments were served and the huge birthday cake cut for the following folks: Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Amaral, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Oliveria and son Dennie, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Fugmant and son, Mr. and Mrs. William Lawrence, George Souza, Carol and Bobby, Ernie Smith and Evelyn Meyers, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Oliveria and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Amaral and Rose Marie and Billy.

BABY SHOWER

A lovely baby shower was given Mrs. Lorraine Bastain of San Jose (the former Lorraine Rogers of Mission San Jose) on March 31, by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Esther Rogers of Centerville, and co-hostess Mrs. Maxine Whitton at Campbell. Many local folks were invited and she received many lovely and useful gifts. She is the daughter of Mrs. Rose Rogers of the Mission (and by the way Mrs. Rogers is very much improved and making her home at the present time with Cliff and Esther in Centerville until recuperated enough to come home to her own place here).

VACATIONING HERE

A TRIBUTE

Here's a tribute to one who has finished nearly 25 years of faithful service to his community. Joseph Telles, who on the death of his brother, Manuel, 23 years ago, took over the job of roadmaster in the Mission San Jose area, was retired from his position as superintendent of the southern district on April 1, because he had reached that age limit which finally catches up with all of us. Mr. Telles has been and is still a prominent figure in civic life and was for years one of the trustees of the elementary school. He and his sons, Joe Jr. and Clarence, have a large ranch on the Livermore-Mission Highway. His daughter, Rosalyn Garcia, has been his housekeeper since the death of his wife many years ago. His grandson, Stanley Garcia, is also a member of the household. Two other daughters, Marie Cunha and Velma Valencia, complete his family, along with a granddaughter, Janice Cunha, and little Clarie and Jeaneen Telles. A job well done, Pop Telles, and good luck to you on your retirement, but make it a busy one, for busy people are happy people.

Francis Dunn Jr., who has represented Washington Township in the State Assembly since 1943, has filed his candidacy for re-election to the office of Assemblyman in the thirteenth district.

Assemblyman Dunn has been chairman of the Education Committee for the past four years and has sponsored such important legislation as the bills apportioning state support for school districts, the recent bond issue for state aid for local school buildings, which was approved by the voters last November by a three to one majority, bills aiding impoverished school districts and for additional state support to those districts where school population has shown an excessive increase.

Dunn also served on the interim Committee on Highways, Streets and Bridges, and on San Francisco Bay Crossings, which committee has the duty of reporting on the need for additional bay crossings and is currently sponsoring an engineering study as to the feasibility of the Reber Plan.

GIFT SHOP, TEA ROOM TO OPEN IN MISSION

"The Mission Shop," featuring imported gifts and rattan furniture, will be opened in Mission San Jose around the first of May, according to Miss Olive Hyde who owns the attractive brick and redwood structure that was completed a few months ago.

Donald Meyers of Mission San Jose will be the manager.

Gifts such as pewter from Norway, lamps from the British Navy, rattan furniture from China, and Chinese baskets will be displayed for sale. Also available will be drapery samples, which may be used for such purposes as chair coverings.

"I will open with a fairly small stock," stated Miss Hyde, "expecting to increase it as the demand grows."

To be run in conjunction with the gift shop will be a tea-room, housed in a building that will shortly be erected in the rear of the main structure. In fair weather, tea will be served in a patio, as well as indoors.

Unlike many gift shops, Miss Hyde's shop will feature functional gifts, rather than those used purely for ornamental purposes. The owner expects trade to be drawn mainly from tourists who visit the old mission, but is hoping, of course, that the gift shop will also prove popular with residents of the township.

IRVINGTON REPORTS SURVEY FINDINGS

The members of the telephone survey committee of the Irvington Chamber of Commerce, Vernon Leal, Monford Krueger and Edw. L. Rose, were instructed by the Chamber at the Tuesday luncheon, to attend the Centerville Chamber luncheon on Wednesday and report their findings to the telephone officials who were to be present.

Treasurer Clifford Rogers, who presided over the meeting in the absence of President Allan Hirsch and Vice-President Bob Zwissig, named Dr. E. M. Grimmer and Jack Prouty as delegates to the Wednesday evening meeting of the Associated Chambers of Commerce at San Leandro.

SOCIAL SECURITY FOR FARMERS IS TOPIC AT FORUM

The final in the series of public forums offered by the Washington Evening School will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Subject of the meeting will be: "The Concern of Farmers in Social Security" and the speaker will be Cruz Venstrom of the California Farm Bureau Federation.

Mr. Ventrom is a graduate of the University of Nevada, where he was in the agricultural experiment station working on farm management questions and other problems in agricultural economics. Later he was with the U. S. Department of Agriculture in the Bureau of Agricultural Economics, stationed in Nevada and California. During the recent war period, he was with the War Food Administration on program appraisal and analysis.

At present he is in the Commodity Service Department of the California Farm Bureau Federation and is secretary of the federation's Labor Problems Committee. His qualifications on the subject of Social Security derives from his work on this subject from the bureau's labor problem committee.

Warren Gravestock, principal of the evening school, stated this week that Mr. Venstrom will be here to speak on the topic of farmers in social security at the request of the Washington-Eden Center

Happy Time

Tommy Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Cole of Niles, celebrated his sixth birthday at a party at his home on Fremont Avenue last Monday afternoon. The children enjoyed the usual party fare of birthday cake, soda pop, and ice cream. A variation in the usual "he received many lovely gifts" came with the revelation from Tommy's mother that he GRABBED the many lovely gifts! But, after all, a fella has to show that he appreciates his gifts, doesn't he?

Those present were Toby Miller, Walter White, Gordon Westray, Tommy Marshall, Susy and Bill McKiernan, Susy and Eddie Beckway, Patsy and Larry Kerns, and Derrel Harrelson.

Waffle Supper

Miss Joan Vervais, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Vervais of Niles, entertained some of her young high school friends at a waffle supper at her home last Friday evening. The group concluded the evening with a skating party at Rollerhaven in Niles.

Those who enjoyed the fun were Mary Lynn Lamoreux, Barbara Johnson, Donna Moore, Ralph Juhl, Bob Brahmst, Clifford Dennis and Ed Wright.

Living in Niles

Miss Oma Perry, manager of The Register's new circulation contest, has taken a room with Mrs. Jack Alberg at her home in Niles, for the duration of the contest.

The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's niece, Mrs. Don York of Blossom Hill Road, Los Gatos. The couple was attended by Mr. and Mrs. Dan Quartaroli of Niles. They left on a honeymoon at an undisclosed destination, and will return to take up residence at the former Donovan place in Niles.

GREATEST PIANO DUO IN SAN JOSE SOON

Luboshutz and Nemenoff, greatest of all two piano teams, play in the auditorium, San Jose, on Monday night, April 17. There are many two-piano teams on the concert stage today, and among them all Lubosultz and Nemenoff hold top place. Never before has there been such demand for two-piano concerts as today, and Luboshutz and Nemenoff have been largely responsible for creating that demand. In their 13 years of concerts they have left their audiences clamoring for more of the exciting delight and entertainment which their programs give.

Serge Koussevitzky, for many years conductor of the Boston Symphony, declared their playing to be "Perfection in two piano playing," and the New York Times wrote, "This reviewer has never before known two-piano artistry comparable to this," while the Chicago Tribune said, "The most beautiful two piano playing I have heard in seasons."

Tickets for Luboshutz and Nemenoff are on sale at the Denny-Watrous box office, San Jose auditorium. Tickets dated March 3 are good on April 17, as the Luboshutz and Nemenoff recital takes the place of the cancelled Piano Quartet scheduled for the earlier date.

GARDENS TO GLASS WILL ENTERTAIN THOSE WHO TAKE 'TOYON TOUR' APRIL 15

Are you one of the legion of women who like to "peek" into gardens, and even (don't tell anyone) into the windows of your neighbors' homes when they leave the shades up?

It's a common trait among women, so don't feel too badly if you do. But here's your chance to do all the "peeking" you want to—and nobody will care or will even hinder you. In fact they will be glad if you do!

We're speaking about the garden and hobby tour being sponsored by Toyon Branch of Children's Hospital, to be held on Saturday, April 15, from noon to five o'clock.

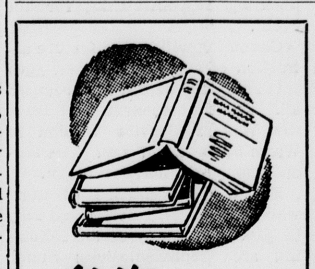
For only a dollar (and the dollar is well spent as it goes to the Children's Hospital) you will have the opportunity of seeing the delightful Meyers' garden on Dry Creek, Decoto. An informal garden, it is so restful and peaceful that you are likely to want to spend the whole afternoon there. But don't! Pull yourself away and drive down to Niles to the Grau home, where the township's most famous artist, Ethel Grau, will greet you and show you around her spacious home and will let you see some of her watercolors and oils.

You won't have far to go to the next stop, for Mrs. Dora Scudder's home adjoins the Grau home on School Street. Mrs. Scudder has one of the most fascinating and largest collections of early American glass you will ever see in a private home.

And next, at the Svoboda home on Overacker Avenue in Niles, you will enter one of the finest old residences built here in the early days, and will see some beautiful pieces of early Victorian furniture.

No tour would be complete, of course, unless at the end of it you can look forward to a bit of refreshment. This important part of the afternoon will be adequately taken care of at the LeRoy Broun home on Mt. Vernon Avenue in Centerville (off of Santos Road) where Mrs. Broun, one of the township's ablest hostesses, will serve you a cup of tea.

Tickets for this unusual event may be procured from any Toyon Branch member, or call Mrs. Edna Overacker, Niles.



At the LIBRARY

By ELAINE HOWE

Here's a brace of novels, each of which is guaranteed to provide the reader with several hours of enjoyment in complete escape from all those things one ought to be doing. Turn your back on duty a little longer and settle down with one of these, according to your tastes.

Gwen Bristow, a Californian by adoption, has written "Jubilee Trail," a long, robust account of the experiences of a young New York girl when she marries a westerner, and with him takes the "Jubilee Trail" from Santa Fe to pre-Gold Rush California. Adventure, romance, history—what more could you ask?

Elizabeth Goudge has a wide and appreciative audience. Did you enjoy her "Pilgrim's Inn" or "Green Dolphin Street"? Her latest book, "Gentian Hill," has the scene laid on the Devon coast and concerns a spirited orphan girl and her love for an officer in Lord Nelson's fleet. History, too, on the other side of the world.

George Stewart, the U. C. professor who is well remembered for "Storm" and "Fire," has put his scientist's mind to work on a new angle in "Earth Abides." A mysterious plague has swept the world, leaving only a few humans scattered over the earth. However, for a while the dynamos run, the lights burn and water pours from the reservoirs. The survivors live on canned goods and the piled up gadgets of civilization, although eventually they have to start building a world of their own. It's stimulating and most interesting.

"Captain from Castille" and "Prince of Foxes" won for Samuel Shellabarger a host of admirers. If you enjoy authentic historical novels with lots of action, you'll find it in "King's Cavalier." The hero, a young soldier under the great Bayard, dares many dangers in loyalty to his king, Francis I. In trying to weld France into a nation, Francis encounters many plots. The love interest is well supplied by an English noblewoman, placed at Francis' court in the best interests of her own king, Henry VIII.

Emilie Loring has to her credit a long list of books. Her latest, "Love Came Laughing By," concerns an American girl fleeing a South American revolution. She takes time out to do some undercover work for the State Department, thwart a gang of blackmailers, and, of course, get her man.

The newly organized Mothers' Club for Newark Girl Scouts met at the Newark Youth Center on Wednesday. Approximately 15 mothers attended.

Cable cars were invented in San Francisco.

PAULO ZUNIGA, 293 Santos Avenue, Niles, will be "Capped" and graduated from the Dental Nurses Training School of San Francisco on April 20.

COTTON BROTHERS PLAN 10 NEW NEWARK HOMES

Gordon and Arthur Cotton, Newark contractors, announced this week that they will construct ten new homes on Wells Street in Newark between Oak and Locust Streets.

The contractors stated that the new homes will have three bedrooms and will feature an unfinished room over the attached double garages, which may be converted into a rumpus room or extra bedroom.

San Bernardino County contains 20,131 square miles.

SCHOLARSHIP FUNDS ARE SOUGHT HERE

The Freshman Scholarship Committee of District 4A, California Alumni Association, which includes Washington Union High School, has raised $250 to be used in awarding scholarships to deserving freshmen entering the University of California in the fall of 1950.

The commttee has expressed hope of collecting an additional $100 so that two $300 scholarships will be available The amount raised in the district is matched by an equal amount from the university.

Fred H. Duffie Jr. of Niles, a freshman student in the College of Optometry, was awarded a similar scholarship last year.

Thinking Things Over . . .

By VIVIAN BATMAN

There was a welcome visitor in our office this week. He was our very good old friend, Frank Garcia of Niles. We consider it a distinct honor to have him visit us, as he has been ill for many months and isn't able to get around very often. "I hadn't seen your new office," he said, "and I told my daughter today that I just want to go down and see the Batmans again, and see their new office."

We had missed him these past months, as he was one of our regular visitors, and always had a few cheering words to greet us with. This time was no exception. "You look younger than when I saw you last time," he said to me (what woman wouldn't love that!); then he turned to my husband and said, "It's probably because she has such a nice husband." Now if that isn't about the neatest, all-in-one package compliment I've heard for a long time!

But it isn't only because he says such nice things that we like Mr. Garcia. No indeed. It's because that even though he is in his mid-eighties, he retains a young heart. He's as eager as ever to dance, and one of these days, he says, he's going to get back on the dance floor. Moreover, he retains an interest in contemporary life, even though he can recall vividly the episodes of his younger days in Niles. He was born at the Old Adobe, you know, and probably knows as much, or perhaps more, about the lore of this area as anyone around here.

He left us saying, "When I like people I like 'em. Once," he continued, "somebody snubbed me, and I never had any use for that person again. They only have to snub me once. But when I like people I like 'em," and he went out the door with his old eyes twinkling.

How, I wondered, could anyone possibly snub such a warm-hearted old gentleman?

OLD PEOPLE ARE WISE

Do you like old people? Sometimes I think we're inclined to ignore them, and give them too little of our time. Yet where, or with with whom, are our attentions more appreciated? Quite often old people are lonely because their contemporaries are all gone. They have to depend on younger people for companionship.

I've found that by listening to old people you are not just doing them a favor; you are doing YOURSELF a favor. For they always have something to give you in the way of experience, or philosophy, or just plain every-day horse-sense that is invaluable. They have learned life's lessons, not through books entirely, but through trial and error; and the conclusions they draw are usually worth listening to.

When we show old people so clearly that we don't have time for them, I sometimes wonder if, in addition to feeling a little hurt, they also must feel a little pity for us. For surely they must see the folly of all this rushing around, this mad scramble for money, and for prestige. Most old people have a certain composure, and a why-rush-what-does-it-get-you? attitude that is enviable.

A RED RED RYDER FAN

A friend of mine is still burning in embarrassment over an episode that occurred at the Cow Palace this week.

A mother herself, she had also herded other mothers' children into the exposition building to see the show, especially the popular Red Ryder.

This woman is a personal friend of Red Ryder, so when he entered the stadium on his horse, she got up in the stands and started waving her arms wildly about and calling out, "Hurray! Red Ryder! Yipee!"

She was really knocking herself out.

Suddenly she realized that in that big stadium she was making quite a spectacle of herself, for all of the children around her were interested, but calm and composed. There was no "yipee-ing" from their department.

"I wanted him to know that I was there," she said, smiling sheepishly, "but the more I thought of what I had done, the sillier I felt. I suppose all of those people in the stadium thought I was a Red Ryder fan. They probably think I have his pictures tacked up all over my walls, listen to him faithfully on the radio, and wear Red Ryder badges."

The next day when she was chatting with Red Ryder in his hotel suite, she asked him if he had seen her in the Cow Palace, when he came out on his horse.

"Did I!" he grinned. "Why I never had a nois—er—a heartier welcome!"

She is still feeling sheepish.

PARKING PROBLEM IRKS CENTERVILLE

A crack-down by the sheriff's department on double-parking in the business section of Centerville resulted this week in action being taken by the Chamber of Commerce to provide additional parking space.

Chamber members reported that since the Peerless bus depot has moved across the street the county and state highway departments have each looked to the other to paint over the former bus loading zones, which are still painted red. Highway patrolmen, apparently unfamiliar with the change in the loading zones, are still giving citations to persons who park in the now unused zone, one member related.

The Chamber instructed its secretary, Gene Manning, to write to Sheriff Jack Gleason asking his cooperation in settling the squabble. Fred Rogers and Ralph Goodwin were named by President Edgar Van Scoy to serve on a committee to gather information on the problem and refer it back to the Chamber for action.

Vernon Leal and Monford Krueger, representing the Irvington Chamber of Commerce, attended the meeting and reported on their survey of telephone service discrepancies.

After Ralph Goodwin presented his report on the problems the matter was referred to the Township Chamber of Commerce.

CENTERVILLE TO GET NEW FIRE TRUCK

The Centerville Fire Department this week announced that it is in the market for a new fire truck.

Chief Fred Rogers said that the 22-year-old Mack truck is to be replaced by a new truck which will have a pumper capable of producing 750 gallons of water per minute.

NILES SPORTSMEN PLAN FREE SHOOT

The members of the Niles Sportsmens Club have been invited to participate in a free shoot to be held at the club range on the Mission Highway on Sunday, April 16.

Walt Jones, publicity chairman, said this week that the only requirement to enter is a paid-up membership card and the desire to try out the old shooting eye. Competition is expected to be keen even though there are no prizes offered.

The club is also planning a Ham Shoot to be held on May 7 and the cooperation of all club members is being sought to assure the success of the affair.

MISSION SAN JOSE BOY ENLISTS IN U. S. NAVY

Robert Lofton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Lofton of Mission San Jose, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and is now in San Diego taking his recruit training at the Naval Training Center.

Lofton was a member of the Senior class at Washington Union High School and was an active member of the Future Farmers of America. Following his 12 weeks of recruit training he will be given a two weeks' leave to visit his parents here before reporting for duty assignment.

He was enlisted by Chief E. R. Martinson, recruiter at the San Leandro City Hall.

HEALTH CAMPAIGN SUPPORTED HERE

Physicians in the southern part of Alameda County report that many families are taking advantage of the spring immunization campaign, according to Dr. James C. Malcolm, county health officer.

Last week one local doctor reported that seven children visited his office to secure immunization during a single afternoon. Extra supplies of diphtheria toxoid have been ordered by the Health Department because of the many requests from physicians.

Doctors have noted that mothers are not only securing protection for their school-age children, but are also requesting immunization for babies and pre-school children in the family.

POT LUCK SUPPER FOR NILES P.T.A.

The Niles P.T.A. will hold a pot-luck supper next Tuesday evening, April 11, for members and their families.

The affair will be held in the cafeteria, and will start at 6:15, according to Mrs. Frank Andrade, president.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR
Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Election-conscious or diligent, California's legislators are striving mightily to prove worthy of that new salary hike voted by the electorate last November.

In session primarily to work out the state's finances for the coming year, the lawmakers already have disposed of a "quickie" special session called to make a technical correction regarding the salaries of El Dorado County officials and in another special session—concurrent with the Budget Session—are hard at work on gambling, pension, lobbying, and other matters.

As for the $971,000,000 budget submitted by the Governor to the Legislature, here is the manner in which it is proposed to spend the tax dollar:

Education, 31.5 cents; highways, streets and motor vehicle registration, 20.5 cents; social welfare, 17 cents; mental hospitals and correctional facilities, 9 cents; agriculture and natural resources, 6 cents; and public health, 2 cents.

The other 14 cents of the tax dollar—generally referred to as "all other"—is allocated as follows: Executive (governor, disaster council, lieutenant governor), .03 of a cent; general administration (retirement system, committee on interstate cooperation, personnel board, secretary of state), .12; fiscal affairs (board of control, state controller, finance and fairs and expositions, board of equalization, franchise tax board, state treasurer), 2.38; legislative, .37; judicial, .11; investment, .28; justice, .22; military affairs, .40; professional and vocational standards, .27; public utilities, .29; public works (excluding highways, reclamation board, Colorado River board, water resources board and division of water resources), .10; debt service, .51; reserve for contingencies, .27; and miscellaneous, 1.04.

The remaining payments to local governments account for the following: for public works (excluding flood control), 2.19; for other purposes (excluding veterans' service officers, agricultural commissioners, and fairs), .13; and for shared revenues (excluding county roads, city streets), 5.27.

It is eye-straining reading, but unless the legislature votes funds beyond those allocated in the budget, that is how California's tax dollar will be spent during the coming fiscal year. As a matter of general interest, almost two-thirds of the above-noted expenditures are fixed costs over which the legislature has no control. Just over a third of the budget is fixed at the discretion of the legislature and the governor.

While the matter of wrestling with the state finances probably could be a full-time job, California's solons have their hands full with other items, too.

Bills opening wide the hotly disputed issue of old age pensions are jamming the legislative hopper. One proposal is to transfer the major portion of county pension costs to the state, thus increasing the amount of the budget. Other bills would repeal or lessen relatives' responsibility, which would add to total outlays, also. Then, too, there are forces at work which would lower the pension age limit and some propose, with slight variations, to reinstate the voter-repudiated McLain pension scheme. If the three proposed major modifications should be adopted that would require $55,000,000 of new revenue, for the budget itself will require all but $2,225,000 of all available funds.

On the subject of gambling, the great stir to date has been over anti-slot machine legislation, with undertone demands for a general tightening up of crime laws. The strengthening-of-laws philosophy is prevalent particularly in relation to sex crimes.

Concerning lobby control, the atmosphere has cleared somewhat since the last special session of the legislature in December, although there is still some agitation to push through measures which would seriously restrict the people's right of petition.

Finally, the legislature also is concerned with matters pertaining to child care centers, public school financing, unemployment and disability insurance, workmen's compensation insurance, and a small host of noncontroversial issues.

As the battle lines form and harden, it appears likely that there will be some modification of the pension laws and a tightening up of crime legislation. In the main, however, the state's lawmakers do not appear to be in too much of a hurry to pass any legislation this election year which would necessitate tax increases if they can help it. That is how it looks in midsession at any rate—there is no telling what may happen by adjournment time.

VOTE 'YES' NEXT TUESDAY

Voters of the Union Sanitary District will decide next Tuesday whether or not to issue $260,000 in bonds to pay for the construction of a sewage disposal plant.

Actually, there is no other choice than to vote "yes." Dumping of raw sewage into San Francisco Bay is now contrary to state law. If the bond issue to be voted on Tuesday is voted down, then another election must be held in the future to vote on exactly the same matter. Repeated elections will be necessary until the issue carries. Elections are expensive, so voters of the district will be wise to cast "yes" ballots at Tuesday's election.

The pollution of San Francisco Bay has long been a problem and it was wise of the state legislature to prohibit the dumping of raw sewage into the bay. Both Decoto and Irvington Sanitary Districts operate sewage disposal plants.

The proposed $260,000 bond issue for the Union Sanitary District will construct a plant capable of serving the area for a considerable period of residential growth. The directors, wisely, have acquired a site adequate for plant enlargement to serve all future needs of the district.

The intelligent voter will save himself money by going to his polling place Tuesday and voting "yes." If the bond issue fails, the whole project leading up to another election will have to be undertaken again, with repeated expense.

Don't forget to vote. And vote "yes."

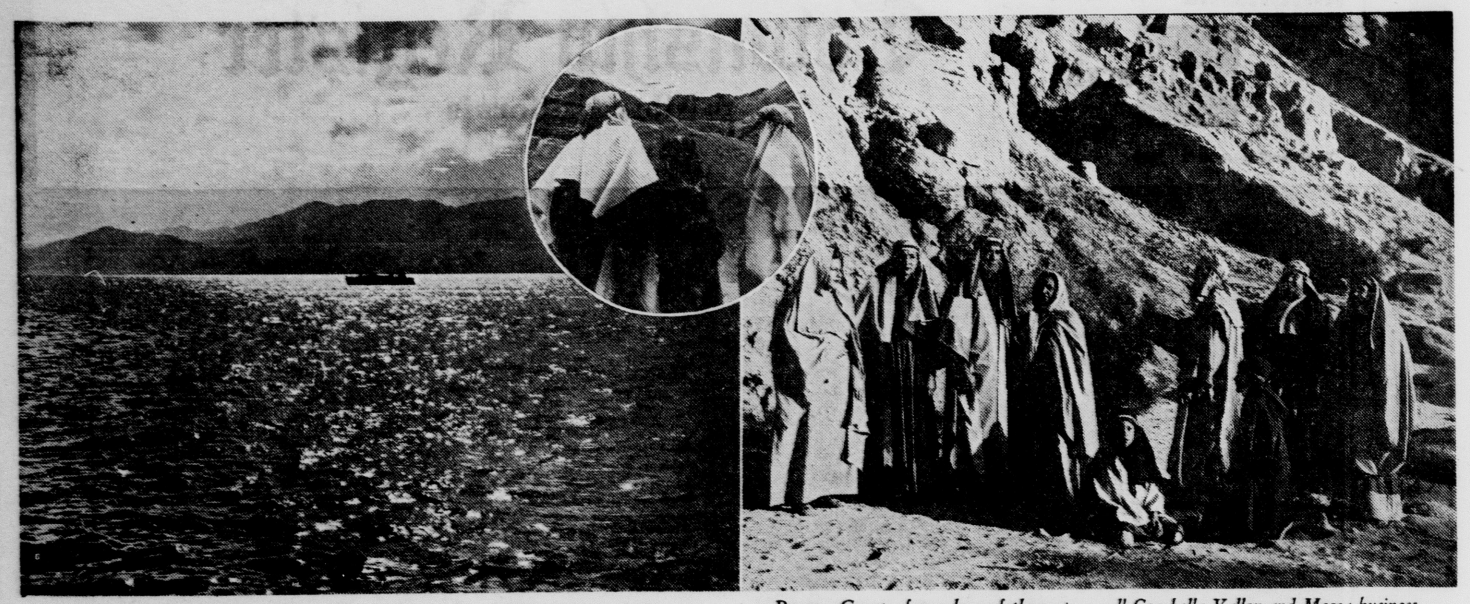
"The Master Passes By"

EASTER PAGEANT REENACTED AT AMERICA'S SEA OF GALILEE



—Photos by Hartman Studio.

LEFT—View of Salton Sea, America's only inland sea, formed during the years 1905 to 1909 by flood waters of the turgid Colorado. Boating, swimming, water sports and an annual Salton Sea Powerboat Regatta are regular events. The sea lies west of Box Canyon, site of the annual Easter Pageant, "The Master Passes By."

RIGHT—Group of members of the cast . . . all Coachella Valley and Mecca business people, ranchers, housewives and school children who take part in the Mecca Easter Pageant, "The Master Passes By," a vivid story of the days of the crucifixion. CENTER—Members of cast in Holy Land garb point to crosses atop rocky cliff in Box Canyon west of Mecca, California, near shores of Salton Sea. The area has long been compared in similarity to the Sea of Galilee and its surrounding area.

By ROBERT C. ENNEN

Eastertime brings a flood of visitors to the area about the Salton Sea in the heart of the Coachella Valley. Two events celebrate the ancient Holy Day; the impressive, home-spun Mecca Easter Pageant on Good Friday and Holy Saturday, and the Easter Sunrise Services at Travertine Point overlooking the sea.

Geographically considered, the Mecca area is particularly appropriate for the two observances. The paradoxical Salton Sea, which has come to be called "America's Sea of Galilee", lies below it in the desert. Above it are the hills of palisaded rock so strikingly similar to the land about the Holy City.

Began in 1946

The Easter observance in Mecca is not heavy with tradition, going back only to the mid-war year of 1946. Helen Bell, a writer of national reputation, was enjoying the mild, tropical winter in Mecca. She had with her a volume of her poems, "The Master Passes By." It was a symbolic story of Pontius Pilate at the moment of his decision on Good Friday.

Mrs. Bell dreamed of dramatizing her work, and in Mecca she found a companion dreamer in Cecelia Foulkes, a composer, whose family had been in Mecca since 1914. Together they interested the Mecca Civic Council which decided to produce it and with typical American zest the whole community started to work.

Their first problem was a theater. With a cast of over forty players, they knew it would have to be a large one. And, like a silent answer, the vast Colorado Desert lay all about them. Beyond the desert were the Mecca Hills and Box Canyon. Conveniently, Highway 195, long since deserted by most travelers, ran directly through its jumbled, faulted gorges.

Here, close by the road, was a stage; 150 feet across, with natural rock wings, a backstage canyon that winds and disappears into the hills, and an audience area of smooth sand capable of seating ten thousand. This was it.

Community Presentation

Graders, skip loaders, shovels and plenty of elbow grease were the next requisites and of these they had aplenty. The community doctor, who operates a date ranch, a water works, and a brick yard on the side, took time from his 13-hour day to work beside the town's six-foot-five magistrate who also teaches at the High School and runs his own ranch. Together they matched the efforts of the ever-busy ranchers, shopkeepers, and business men of the valley.

Meanwhile, their wives were dyeing draperies, sheets, and tablecloths, creating authentic B.C. costumes for the play. Even the problem of electricity in this remote, lineless area was solved with a homemade generator, for equipment was almost unobtainable in this war year.

The play was cast mainly from the community, and material was abundant. They had a product of Marie Ouspenskaya's school of dramatics in Hollywood. They had graduates of the schools of dramatics and music at U.C.L.A. They had veterans of other Southland productions such as the Casa Grande Pageant, and for their leads they had the volunteered services of two nationally known radio, motion picture and Broadway artists.

Of the first production of "The Master Passes By" one of the pioneers wrote: "It was beautiful and stirring beyond the fondest hopes of those who had created it. There were not fancy colored lights, extravagant costumes, nor was there a brilliant orchestra — but there was a magnificent natural stage with the moon and the stars — there was a timely, symbolic tale about the friends of Jesus enacted by the same kind of people who would be His friends today were He living in this era. There was the boundless enthusiasm of the cast and production staff."

Of Mecca one might well say, this is community spirit; this is America!

Yosemite Lake Scene of Sunrise Services Commemorating the Resurrection

In commemoration of that first Easter Sunday morning, more than two thousand years ago, when the sun rises over Half Dome in Yosemite Valley at exactly 9:28 in the morning, an impressive sunrise service will be attended by thousands of worshippers.

In nature's own beautiful ampitheatre, while the sun lights up the snow that still lingers on the summit of the mountains, the congregation far below will stand in reverence as the robed choir sings the "Allejuias" and the minister on a promontory extending the famous Mirror Lake reads the scriptures.

Not only the Alpine sunrise, but the entire scene will be mirrored in the lake. On either side great granite walls rise precipitously three to four thousand feet above, lending a cathedral-like quality to the acoustics. And to the music of the choir and instrumental accompaniment will be added the music of Yosemite's many waterfalls.

Natural Setting

It would be hard to find a more inspirational setting for an Easter Service than the Yosemite Valley! In this deep glacier-and-river-carved canyon in the heart of the Sierra, nature has provided a natural outdoor amphitheatre of magnificent dimensions.

At the eastern end of Yosemite Valley stands Half Dome — a sheer mile of solid granite; and at the foot of this majestic monolith is Mirror Lake — a snow-fed lakelet so smooth it produces perfect reflections of its surroundings. And so it is that those who gather on the wooded shores of Mirror Lake on Easter morning are treated to the phenomenon of a "double" sunrise — two sunrises a mile apart!

Easter finds Yosemite Valley awakening from its long winter sleep. Spring is in the air and nature has begun to stir. The fragrance of cedars, firs, and pines is like a tonic. Skies are blue overhead. Deer graze in lush, green meadows that sparkle in the morning dew, and squirrels and chipmunks scamper through the pine needles. Robins, bluejays, and gaily-hued tanagers fill the air with song.

COVER

On the cover of Magazine California this week is the picture of beautiful Mirror Lake in Yosemite National Park where worshippers will attend the annual Easter Sunrise services.

Wild Flowers Lend Beauty

Along Merced Canyon, leading into Yosemite, wildflowers of a hundred varieties mingle in colorful profusion. For miles the Merced River is lined with redbud, a shrub once used by the native Indian inhabitants in basketry. And the flowering dogwood, whose snowy white blossoms contribute so much to the beauty of Yosemite's highways and byways in the springtime, are just beginning to bud. In the Mariposa Grove of Big Trees and at Glacier Point, two of the park's most popular scenic attractions, fiery-red Snowplants delight the visitor.

By Easter, Yosemite's waterfalls are approaching full volume and snow-swollen waters plunge down from incredible heights with a roar that echoes and re-echoes throughout the valley. Yosemite Falls, Bridalveil Fall, Ribbon, Cascade, Sentinel, Royal Arch — all may be seen and approached from the valley floor. Three more great waterfalls—Vernal, Nevada, and Illilouette—are visible from Glacier Point and are easily accessible by trail.

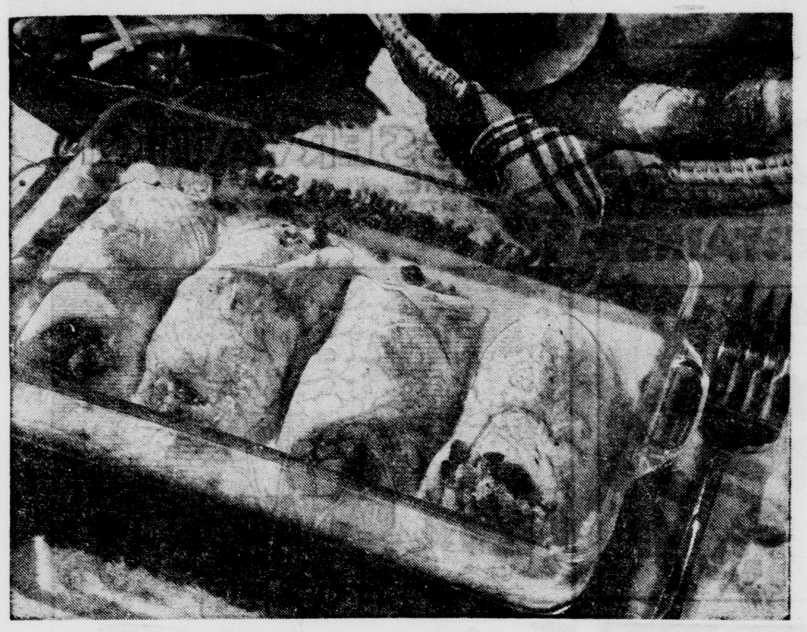
Curiously enough, those who visit Yosemite around Eastertime may enjoy the sports of two seasons. While some are golfing, playing tennis, riding horseback, and hiking on the valley floor, others are enjoying spring skiing on the sunny ski slopes high above—only a short drive from the hotel units in Yosemite Valley.

WHAT'S DOING THIS WEEK-END

Easter Sunrise Services fill the calendar for Californians this week-end. Among those planned are:

Santa Barbara Bowl, Santa Barbara.
Forest Lawn at Glendale.
Aztec Riders in Alvarado Canyon, San Diego.
Irvine Bowl, Laguna.
Redlands Bowl, Redlands.
Mt. Helix, San Diego.
Wistaria Vine at Sierra Madre.
Red Hill at San Anselmo.

Easter Luncheons



Individual fish fillets are dressed up here for special luncheon fare. Just roll them around bread stuffing, smother in cheese sauce and bake half an hour.

There will be rounds of gay luncheon parties during the coming Easter week when the spring social season gets automatically underway. It's a time for colorful decorations and something new and easy in the way of food. Here are a few easy-to-make, yet fascinating and palatable dishes that will satisfy any group of guests:

Stuffed Fish Fillets Baked in Cheese Sauce

Stuffed fish fillets:
4 individual fish fillets, about 1 pound
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
¼ cup finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons butter
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon thyme
dash of pepper
1¼ cups soft bread crumbs, lightly packed
1 to 2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1½ cups cheese sauce

CHEESE SAUCE:
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
dash of pepper
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
¼ lb. chateau cheese, shredded

To make stuffed fillets: Wipe fillets with a clean wet cloth. Cook onion and celery in melted butter until tender but not brown, about 10 minutes. Add vegetable mixture, salt, thyme, and pepper to bread crumbs; mix well. Moisten with evaporated milk. Divide stuffing into four equal portions. Place a portion on each fillet. Roll fillets and fasten with a toothpick. Put fillets in shallow baking pan. Pour cheese sauce over fillets. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender, about 25 minutes. Serve at once; if desired, garnish with chopped parsley.

To make cheese sauce: Melt butter. Remove from heat. Combine flour, salt, dry mustard and pepper. Stir into melted butter. Gradually stir in evaporated milk and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Here are some additional luncheon suggestions:

Baked Eggs in Cheese Sauce

6 eggs
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon dry mustard
1/8 teaspoon paprika
dash of pepper
½ cup evaporated milk
½ cup water
¼ lb. chateau cheese, shredded
2 tablespoons dry bread crumbs
(Makes four servings.)

Generously butter a 9-inch pie plate. Break eggs into pie plate, being careful not to break the yolks. Melt butter in a saucepan. Remove from heat. Combine flour, salt, dry mustard, paprika and pepper. Stir into melted butter. Gradually add evaporated milk and water. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Set aside ¼ cup cheese for topping; add remaining cheese to sauce and heat until cheese is melted, stirring constantly. Pour sauce over eggs. Combine the ¼ cup cheese with bread crumbs and sprinkle over top. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until eggs are set, about 15 minutes. Serve at once over spinach with hot buttered toast.

Orange Bran Bread

3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup whole bran
1 egg
1 tablespoon grated orange rind
½ cup orange juice
1¼ cups milk
1½ tablespoons melted butter

Combine whole bran, orange juice and milk; let stand 15 minutes. Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, and salt into mixing bowl. Combine grated orange rind, well-beaten egg and melted butter with bran; add to sifted dry ingredients. Mix only until blended. Turn into greased loaf pan 9x5x3 inches. Bake in slow oven (325 degrees F.) 1 hour and 15 minutes. Yield: One loaf.

Perfect Salads

Perfect salads start with crisp greens. Drain them in a colander and then finish the job on an absorbent paper towel.

What is Modern?

If you move into a modern house or apartment, must you discard your old furnishings and outfit each room exclusively with modern things? Must you replace your treasured accessories with modern ones? New owners of modern homes are often bewildered by this question.

The appeal of large picture windows, open room-planning, fluid horizontal architectural lines and other features of the modern-style house is growing stronger throughout the country. We are building more and more modern houses. Handling the interior need not be a problem. A feeling for harmony among furnishings, simplicity of line and detail and absence of clutter are all the rules needed.

Period pieces in simple lines, such as Duncan Phyfe and Sheraton, can live happily with modern furniture. Rich dark mahogany and walnut combine beautifully with modern blond woods, such as bleached mahogany. Accessories, such as handsome old American hand-cut glass or even Chinese art objects, are at home in the most sophisticated of modern rooms. T. H. Robsjohn-Gibbings, famous designer who champions modern simplicity, often combines traditional furniture and accessories with modern ones, frequently surrounds antique paintings with modern decor.

You Must Be Careful in Sowing Garden Seeds

While seed sowing is not a precision job — especially when nature does it — gardeners soon learn that much can be saved if it is done with some skill and judgment.

If sown too thinly, there may be vacant spaces in the row, caused by local mishaps such as drowning, or washing out, or an attack of fungus. If sown too thickly, seedlings will come up crowded, and there will be extra work in thinning out the excess plants.

Some seeds are often sown so thickly that 90 per cent of the plants must be sacrificed, in order to give the remainder room enough to mature. This is waste of both seed and labor. Then what will serve as a guide to follow?

As a general rule, not more than 15 seeds to an inch should be needed, when seed is of standard germination, and the soil is fairly porous. Start with that rule, and then make these exceptions:

If seed is of sub-standard germination, or known to be old, double that rate. Carrot seedlings are feeble, and often have difficulty breaking through the soil if it is at all inclined to crust. Use twice as much carrot seed if you have doubts about your soil being porous enough. In the case of large seeds, such as beet, Swiss chard, and peas, which can be spaced precisely, sow them an inch apart.

Bush beans usually are allowed to grow four inches apart in the row. If you wish to avoid vacant spaces, a good way is to sow beans in pairs, spaced four inches apart. Seldom will both seeds in a pair fail to grow. If both grow, one can easily be pulled up, or let them both develop, since twin plants will do as well as singles.

The surest way to sow small seeds is to take a few in the hand, and let them fall through the fingers into the drill which has been prepared. Get close to the ground, and with a little practice you can quickly acquire control so that the seeds will be evenly distributed, each sufficiently distant from the next to prevent entanglement.

Beans can be sown in pairs, properly spaced, to ensure a good stand.

Indoor Gardening

In early spring you may force blooms from shrubs such as forsythia, crabapple and spirea by cutting shoots and putting them in water indoors. The cuttings usually will blossom within ten days, often months ahead of outdoor blooming time.

Newest Colors

Colors are primary for the play season. Off-shoots of the basic or primary colors of the spectrum are the important tones in this California collection, which, like California itself, is very colorful.

ROSE, a blush-bud hue, WATERMELON, an earthy, rich pink, and SHELL PINK are the leaders. Shell pink is particularly important when mated with plum accessories.

SUN SHADES, a California staple, range from brilliant, luminous yellows to the softer LEMON YELLOWS, and down the scale from a cinnamon-bright SUNTAN to the opaque EARTH BROWN, a blend of rust and chocolate.

BLUES are at polarities, very pale or very deep. Faded blue is the color in Denim Pair-Offs. A primitive aqua is being introduced in butcher linen-type rayon, as well as a deep but bright navy.

WHITES are all clear, all dazzling, and a most vital contributor of sharp accents on both bright and dark backgrounds. White with yellow is a new idea for collectors of separates.

Best to Remove These Stains Quickly

Easter Regatta Up; Skippers Fly on New "Flying Fish;" And Yachtsmen Are A-Sailing

By BOB RUSKAUFF

There's always something new under the sun, even when it's as old as yesterday's joke. Among those which come to ken as the 1950 yachting season gets under full way are the Flying Fish.

They'll be a somewhat-more-than-interesting portion of the mighty array of small sailing craft and racing sloops which converge over the Easter holiday week-end at the Balboa Yacht Club on Newport Bay, for one of the first big race series of the 1950 season. This will be the traditional Easter Regatta, April 8 and 9.

As of the period since last fall, when they were introduced to the waters of Alamitos Bay, Long Beach and created quite a furore among the salty, the little sailing boards are flying away from the novelty classification.

To a sailor, they're like canasta to the gin-rummy hounds. Everybody wants to take the tiller for one of the fastest, wettest and yet comparatively safest rides you can get in a small craft.

The Flying Fish sailboard is just that, really. Nothing more nor less than a surf-board carrying a sail. Not new at all. That is probably the way the first sailor outfitted his floating plank back in the post-neanderthal age.

Designer Harry Davis, who perfected an old idea to create the Flying Fish sailboards, claims they even afford him the most fun he's had in 20 years of sailing.

But, like laying lettuce under potatoes, it was the niceties which made the salad really crunchy. So, for that, the bows go to a long-time small boat skipper down at Alamitos Bay, named Harry Davis.

Davis, who has been designing and sailing small boats for 25 years, started his career in pre-teen age days. He was a charter member of the teen-age Leeway Sailing Club. He's outgrown that and is now a member of Alamitos Bay Yacht Club, so isn't really so old, at all.

The swift little Flying Fish sailboards were readily accepted by race committees for competition, although they were tough to classify. They aren't a dinghy, for a dinghy has no deck. Nor are they small boats, for a small boat has a cockpit.

Davis and others who have sailed the boards say "they pack a world of fun and thrill." Non-swimmers aren't allowed to sail them in races. For swimmers, though, they are quite safe. One just falls in, climbs on the centerboard to right the craft and merrily sails on his or her way.

Although the unique Flying Fish sailboard is the newest thing out in the briny west, it isn't the "only," by a long mile. In fact, for those who are unacquainted with the great annual program of the boating west, a visit to the Easter series at Balboa Yacht Club might prove an eye-opener.

Perhaps 250 boats or more in a score of varying classes will sail

Fifty Major Events

And, missing that, there are no less than 50 major events, including those of national and international calibre, which will be held at various ports of the west during 1950.

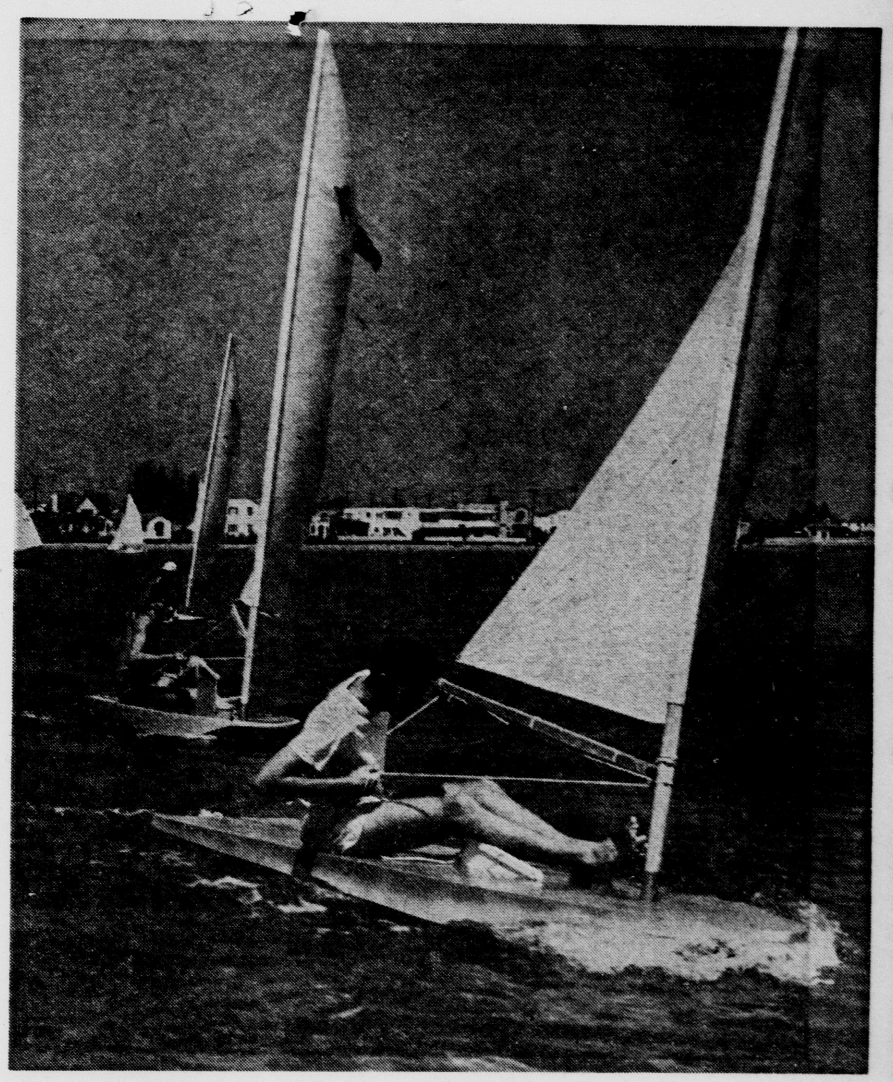
They'll range from mile-high Lake Arrowhead to San Luis Obispo, to Mead Lake, to Los Angeles outer harbor; from Vancouver to Ensenada.

In fact, the 1950 Pacific Coast sailing championship regatta in August will be held on Puget Sound. The Southern California regatta will be conducted at San Diego, August 5-11, under various auspices of the Mission Bay, Southwestern, Coronado and San Diego Yacht Clubs.

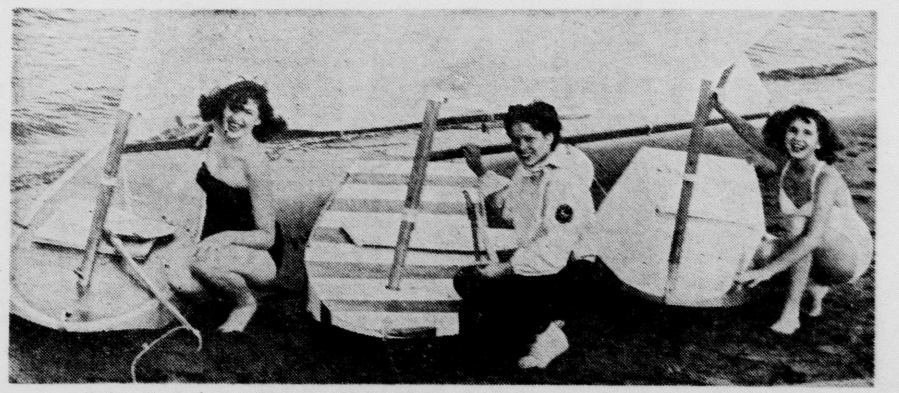
World Championships

The world championship series for International 14-foot dinghies will be held at Alamitos Bay, July 4-30. The Luders 16 national championships are slated August 14-19, on Newport Bay. Alamitos has the Snipe class nationals and those of the Sabot dinghy class.

Aye, for the hardy who sail, or the pea-greeners who want to, there's much in the offing for 1950. A dozen blue-water events for the larger boats; and anything you want to order for the scudding little fellows, even to the "wet pants" lads and lasses who chose such ultra-ditties as Mons. Harry Davis' Flying Fish sailboard for the salt and pepper of a sailing life.



Flying Fish away! Jack Chubb winning a race aboard Happy, one of the new, swift-sailing little Flying Fish sailboards which have taken the fancy of sailors to start 1950 season.



Sailorettes Katherine (Kit) Fay, Helen McDowell and Pat Patterson ready their little sailboards for competition. The unique "boats" will be among 25 classes competing in the Balboa Yacht Club Easter Regatta.

4000 Acres Celery, Tomatoes to Be Transplanted From Nursery Stock in Coachella Valley

By BILL JENNINGS, Managing Editor, The Indio Date Palm

Forty-five acres planted to celery and tomatoes in this 50-feet-below-sea-level, 80-degree temperature, early-growing belt will be transplanted in April to 4000 acres in late-growing climates for marketing.

The I. K. I. Farms midway between Indio and Coachella is the site of this first large-scale nursery planting in Coachella Valley, producing quality stock for Northern California, Utah, Colorado, Washington and Idaho growing areas still winter cold.

"Coachella Valley has the finest weather, plenty of winter warmth for growing nursery stock," Jack Izu, the firm's Coachella Valley branch manager, explained.

Use of outdoor grown transplanting stock often saves growers $100 per acre over hothouse grown plants, formerly only stock available, according to I. K. Ishimatsu, general manager.

The organization, now experimenting with strawberry plantings, came to Coachella Valley from Logandale, Nev., in the fertile Mopa Moapa Valley northeast of Lake Mead, in 1947.

Celery grown here will produce 2000 carloads of fresh produce in northern areas from the 20-acre plot where the young plants are closely bunched together, protected from occasional winds by palm frond and kraft paper windbreaks.

The 25-acre tomato section will largely go to the Northern California cannery production areas.

Ishimatsu said the outdoor mass production method of raising the tender nursery stock has experienced a demand increase of 50 per cent over last season and another 50 per cent jump is predicted next year.

All the I. K. I. transplanting celery crop will be certified Western-masie (sq) disease-free by the California Department of Agriculture because of its isolation from other growing areas, Ishimatsu said.

Much of the former hand cultivation methods associated with valley crops has been eliminated by use of a special 28-inch tread tractor developed by Izu. Cut down from an Allis-Chalmers Model G, the tiny machine does the work of four to six mules and men who formerly weeded and tilled the closely lined rows.
